

Twenty-five Years Ago

Robbie L. Rogers

My life is, because you were there.
I became me, when you began to care.
What would I be? Where would I go?
If you were not there,
As you were twenty-five years ago.

You are the beauty in this old world,
You are the smile in it's eyes,
You put the sunshine in my heart,
Every time you look at me,
As you did twenty-five years ago.

Where would I be, what would I be,
Where would I go they all matter not.
For the beauty of your smile says,
I LOVE YOU, AND WILL FOREVER,
As you did twenty-five years ago

Author's Note: As of now it is 51 years ago.
