

FIRST LOVE

Robbie L. Rogers

Twice once,
When I was but a teen,
About when I'd just turned sixteen,
That I finally mustered up the nerve,
And did just call
The beauty, that perchance that day,
Captured, and stole my heart, away.
Tis I, said me.
Who? said she.
And whence she broke my heart.